

Newsletter from WBFSH

Vilhelmsborg, October 7th 2011

Dear members,

Please take care that this e-mail is forwarded to the relevant persons within your organisation.

Please see the enclosed almost-final rankings from FEI –if there are still mistakes in the rankings like missing or wrong studbook, breed, name, sire, dam, and so on, you have one week to correct the studbook ranking data, and then the FEI publishes the real final rankings for 2011.

Therefore – if you still find mistakes regarding horses that should count for your studbook, please fill in the correct data of the horse/-s in mention, and return the sheet to arts@kwpn.nl at the latest on Friday, October 14th 2011 12am.

Very important – please read the below text before filling in the excel sheet with the horse data that needs to be corrected...

Extract from newsletter sent on August 29th:

“There are still some horses placed very high at the ranking, which have no pedigree information, but more important: no studbook information! These horses will not count for your studbook if the column “studbook” in the rankings is not filled in. Even when the breed column is filled in correctly, but the studbook column is empty or not correct, you as a studbook have to identify the horse.

The only way to update the ranking is to fill out the excel sheet which is provided at the WBFSH-website, and attached to this email again. Please fill in as much information about the horse as possible and provide always the FEI number of the horse. An example is given in the sheet and also an explanation in the first cell of every column.”

Please also see on our website how to update and what is important to remember:

New information on the rankings and how to update them

Maybe some horses are not counting for the right studbooks, but that can be changed by the respective studbook by filling in the below excel file and send it to arts@kwpn.nl

Danielle Arts will collect all the changes and send them to the FEI.

Do it as soon as possible and through the year when new horses with wrong data is found, so that the final rankings will be correct sooner and the correct horses are counting for the studbook rankings already during summer.

At least the studbooks must fill in the yellow columns for a correct change in the rankings and always fill the FEI number of the horse because that is the only identification of the horse for the FEI.

Even if studbooks want to change 1 horse only, they should fill the excel file, horses in separate emails are not updated, because otherwise it is too easy to loose track and miss horse corrections.

Hopefully the FEI will be able to make the changes within a month, so that rankings will give an increasingly more accurate picture of the current rankings during summer and autumn, but we cannot guarantee this.
