WBFSH/FEI Final Rankings 2014

Every year in October we publish the official WBFSH/FEI rankings for both individual horses and for studbooks in dressage, jumping and eventing for the past FEI competition year

The WBFSH/FEI rankings are generally regarded as an essential ingredient of the sport and breeding industry. Both riders and breeders highly value the rankings as the standard for comparing the performance of both competitors and horses.

The WBFSH/FEI rankings for horses and studbooks are published monthly, and the final rankings for the entire FEI competition year are published every year in October. Based on the horse rankings we produce the extremely popular sire rankings which are published every year in November. You can find all WBFSH/FEI rankings on our website.

Final Horse Rankings for the competition year 1 October 2013 - 30 September 2014

The WBFSH rankings are based on the point-awarding system of the FEI rider rankings. FEI rider rankings are produced every month and are an ongoing ranking. The WBFSH/FEI horse rankings will only take into account the number of points gained by a horse during a time limit of one year, from 1 October until 30 September. This makes it possible to have a best horse every year. For the three disciplines jumping, dressage and eventing the point system works slightly differently.

Final Studbook Rankings for the competition year 1 October 2013 - 30 September 2014

The WBFSH/FEI studbook rankings are based on the WBFSH/FEI horse rankings. At the 2014 WBFSH annual meeting in Sao Paulo in November the winning studbooks of the three disciplines dressage, jumping and eventing will be honored.

Once again, the Dutch warmblood association KWPN has claimed first place in dressage as well as jumping, and the Irish Sport Horse (ISH) has, yet again, taken first place in eventing. View the full rankings on our website.
